Election of Office-Bearers

For some years there had been a desire that the Council should be larger and more representative of the body of the Fellows and steps were taken during the period under review to bring this about In the first place the Law relating to the nomination of the Council was altered so as to enlarge it from 9 to 15 members In October 1949 the new Council included 6 new members of whom 4 came from outside Edinburgh representing Glasgow, Dundee and Aberdeen and 2 represented the younger Fellows On the death of Mr William Anderson of Aberdeen his place was taken by Mr Arthur Hamilton of Inverness Experience of the work of the enlarged Council showed it to be highly successful It was therefore enacted that in future the Council shall consist of 15 members Three of these are ex officiis, the Vice President the Secretary and the representative on the General Medical Council, 4 are nominated by the President, leaving 8 members in the selection of whom the President will be guided by the Fellows of the College the Fellows resident in the British Isles indicating their choice by postal vote The main reason for retaining the principle of nomination of 4 members by the President was to ensure representation on the Council of members of the smaller specialties and of members from outside Edinburgh whose presence on the Council might be highly desirable but who might not be very well known to many of the Fellows It was laid down that of the ordinary Fellows other than ex officiis office bearers at least one third must reside in Edinburgh and at least one third must reside elsewhere Great interest was taken in the voting and papers were received from all parts of the British Isles

Reciprocity in Part I of the Fellowship Examination

The principle of reciprocity with the other examining bodies in Part I of the examination has been under consideration since the examination in the basic sciences was inaugurated Meetings were held at the Royal College of Surgeons of England in May and October 1950 between representatives of the Royal Colleges of England Ireland [illegible]

by the interchange of examiners The principle of reciprocity was agreed to at the Statutory Meeting of the College on 20th December 1950 Reciprocity will come into force as soon as the necessary changes in the Laws have been made

Fellowship by Examination

Fellowship in Dental Surgery

With the object of improving the examination and bringing it into line with the examinations for other higher diplomas it was decided in 1948 that the Higher Dental Diploma which was the first higher diploma in dentistry to be established in the British Isles should be replaced by the Fellowship in Dental Surgery The examination for the Fellowship in Dental Surgery consists of two parts—Part I in the basic sciences and Part II in (a) dental surgery and pathology and (b) oral surgery and pathology The first examination for the Fellowship in Dental Surgery was held in November 1949

Honorary Fellowships in Dental Surgery

The Honorary [illegible] fessor Kurt H [illegible] of Harvard on [illegible] Dental Surgery of the Royal College of Surgeons of England and on the late Dr William Guy former Dean of the Edinburgh Dental Hospital and School

The School of Medicine of the Royal Colleges

[illegible] of [illegible] to [illegible] Alexander Monro transferred the teaching of Anatomy to the University in 1725 and the Faculty of Medicine was founded a year later extra mural classes were gradually established In 1849 Dr John Struthers afterwards Sir John Struthers, approached the College with a view to the organisation of the extra mural teachers into a complete medical school and as a result the School of Medicine was built in the grounds of the College The Extra Mural School has formed a training ground in teaching for many brilliant men a number of whom including Lister afterwards became Professors in the University The courses given in the School of Medicine were taken by students preparing for the examinations for the Triple Qualification of the Royal College of Physicians of Edinburgh the Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh and the Royal Faculty of the Physicians and Surgeons of Glasgow and for other examinations After 1889 University students were permitted to take one half of their classes in the Extra Mural School

In the years before the Second World War the lecturers in the School of Medicine had been confronted with serious difficulties in view of steadily rising costs especially in the provision of proper facilities for laboratory teaching After the Report of the Inter Departmental Committee on Medical Schools was published in 1944 it

University Undergraduate teaching in the School of Medicine came to an end on 1st October 1948

The Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh.

HISTORICAL NOTE.

Foundation of the Incorporation of Barber-Surgeons.—The Town Council of Edinburgh, on 1st July, grant the Seal of Cause or Charter of Privileges to the Surgeons and Barbers, constituting them one of the Crafts of the Burgh The Act of the Civic Body was confirmed, on 13th October 1506, by the Royal Charter of King James IV The Deacon, then called the Kirkmaister, had a seat on the Town Council 1657.

The Surgeon-Apothecaries.—The Apothecaries receive from the Town Council a civic status in alliance with the Surgeons In 1670, this arrangement was ratified by the Scottish Parliament 1694.

Gift and Patent from King William and Queen Mary ratified, in 1695, by Act of Parliament.—Increased powers and privileges are granted to the Incorporation, amongst them being better facilities for the teaching of Anatomy Indirectly this led to the building of the Anatomical Theatre and the foundation of the Edinburgh School of Anatomy 1722.

Separation of the Surgeons and Barbers.—By a decision of the Court of Session the two bodies become separate Crafts 1778.

The Incorporation as a Royal College.—By a new Charter granted by King George III in March, the College is incorporated as the Royal College of Surgeons of the City of Edinburgh By this Charter the College is not completely separated from its connection with the Town Council The Deacon, now designated as President, retains his seat on the Town Council in virtue of that Office The members are now called Fellows 1851.

Complete Separation from the Town Council.—By Charter granted by Queen Victoria the College is incorporated under the name and title of the Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh The connection of the College with the incorporated Crafts and the Municipal Incorporation is completely severed

ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS OF EDINBURGH

CHRONOLOGICAL LISTS OF OFFICE-BEARERS

From 1505 to 1580 there are no Minutes of the Incorporation consequently the names of the early Deacons and other Office-bearers are unknown From the Records of the Town Council during this period it has been possible to obtain some of the names of those holding the position of Deacon from 1535 to 1580 but the list is incomplete

Prior to the Charter of 1778 the title of the Head of the Incorporation was Deacon Subsequent to this date he was designated President
